She was at the back of the church and she was getting restless and anxious to leave. But was restless, so mother beckoned the usher to her.

"Is the service nearly finished?" she whispered.

"No. Another half hour yet," replied the usher. "How only on his lastly."

"Will it take him that long to say his 'lastly'?" she asked anxiously.

"No, mum! There's one more word and I'm done, and the 'lastly,' and the 'in conclusion' to come yet."

Sad Memories.

Looking back at a long and eventful career in which we have said many foolish things, the words we regret most are those we uttered one day back in 1913 when we said: "No, I don't believe I'll take any today."—Home Sector.

SAMUEL S. ARENTZ

ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS

SUBJECT TO THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE AT THE COMING PRIMARY ELECTION

NEW JERSEY MAN FOR THE WETS

Distinguished gentlemen who may oppose us on the question, we do not doubt the sincerity of those who are committed to the cause of prohibition, but we do most potently deny that our government now is or ever will be transformed from one of majority to minority rule.

Not need the proponents of this new panacea for human ills fear the judgment of conscience of the American people. The American people are the supreme arbiters of their political destinies, and salvation, and the man or group of men who would take away the scepter of power from the citizenship of our country is a menace to democratic principles and American institutions.

"We assume then that we have the right to take a tomorrow position in this latest fight for temperance. We assume that no man is better qualified to rule than the first citizen of New Jersey. Reputation and experience in statesmanship and business are his in abundance. Whether as comptroller of the state, Senator or Governor, to every cause in the hall of the public well he has brought an energy and perseverance that has battered down dishonest opposition."

Reviewing Governor Edwards' official record, Mr. O'Brien said that as state comptroller he had placed the finances of New Jersey on a sound basis as those of any state in the union and that then as state senator he began "the great work of his career, the task of combatting from without the state the forces that attempted to take away our natural riches and from within the forces of dishonest organized wealth that had come to be regarded as the most dominant factor in its governmental affairs."

"In these two vital issues," said O'Brien, "he pleaded the public cause so tenaciously and so strongly that the people were convinced of his fearlessness, his integrity and his ability, and they not only proclaimed him governor, but hailed him with greater honors yet to come."

AMUSEMENTS

WILLIAM RUSSELL AT THE BUTLER THEATRE TODAY

William Russell, known to motion picture fans as a superb interpreter of he-man roles, give a unique exhibition of his versatility today at the Butler theatre, starring in "Leave It to Me."

In the role of a happy-go-lucky and rich young man, he is called upon to sustain a part somewhat out of the beaten path, and involving scenes of intense tenderness as well as intense action. He gives a remarkably convincing characterization.

The story has a narrative sweep of unusual strength, leading the star and his cast through episodes bristling with fun and fight. By order of an incensed fiancée, William Russell, is obliged to go to work. He buys a detective agency and, to make business, invites a gang of crooks to town. They come with a rush and start their game with a vim. The complications are farcical, but have a human interest basis that raised the picture to the dignity of a unusually fine drama. Tomorrow, Constance Talmadge in "A Lady's Name," the best comedienne of the screen supported by another favorite, Harrison Ford.

Coming Friday Dorothy Dalton in "Black is White," based on the sensational romance by George Barr McCutcheon.

Canine Characteristic.
